OTHER ROUTINE ITEMS

DISTRICT HAS 14 BUSES WHICH ARE CONSIDERED Adequate

By Staff Reporter

LOWER MAKEFIELD, Aug. 12—In an unprecedented move, among other business transacted, the Pennsbury Joint School Board last night voted to permit a profit-making organization to make use of certain school plant facilities.

The Yardley-Lower Makefield Veterans of Foreign Wars unit had applied for permission to use the high school cafeteria on September 20 for the purpose of serving dinner to the public. The school has formerly been available to non-profit groups.

The board voted in favor of a resolution to have the dirt moved to serve as top soil on an area being prepared for lawn.

William W. Ingraham, assistant regional superintendent of Pennsbury schools, made the following recommendations for purchase of equipment: (1) a 16 mm. sound projector; (2) three visual educational screens; (3) the first machine to be bought for the business education department; (4) new furniture to equip two rooms in the high school;

HARD TO START AND STOP

Apparently it is almost as hard to stop making a modern military airplane as it is to get it into production. This is the maxim to be seen in the Air Force's decision to stop building the B-36 intercontinental bomber. The order has been issued. No new B-36s will be started—only those in production now will be completed. But these big planes will be coming off the assembly line for two years.

Successor to the B-36 in the Strategic Air Command's arsenal is to be, naturally the eight-jet wonder called the B-52 Stratofortress. This plane, now completing tests, will be coming into production in 1954 as the B-36 goes out. It is, of course, a better airplane. The mighty new plane can go 600 mph or more—at least 150 faster than the B-36.

It has become fantastically difficult and expensive to keep the nation's air arm strong. More skill and training is demanded of designers, fabricators, maintenance crews and pilots. More money has to be poured into new and ever newer models, their complexities and refinements.

And despite the improvements and defense, obsolescence sets in before the next experimental model leaves the ground.

REDS OVER YELLOW SEA

Sending a lumbering patrol plane out over the Yellow Sea, west of the Korean Peninsula, is likely to invite trouble, as the Navy well knows. But the desire of the Chinese air force to do battle is so hot or miss that the recent shooting up of a Navy PBM is newsworthy. This time, though, the plane managed to get away so it crew could tell about it.

A pair of Russian-built MIGs attacked the patrol plane and, in a running fight, cannon bursts from the jets killed two of the big plane's crewmen and wounded two more. By putting up a defensive machine gun fusillade and employing evasive maneuvers the big plane got back to Korea.

Russia and her satellites generally come out fighting only when a UN plane comes close to a spot where the reds are up to something. Perhaps the patrol plane came too near a nest of submarine pens on the Chinese coast.

Anyway, "routine patrols" is a misnomer. These are full blown combat missions, as the surviving members of the crew of the Mariner, and the next of kin of two of them, are now aware.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By Fulton Lewis, Jr.
(Copyright, 1952,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—If the decision of Alger Hiss's guilt or innocence had been left up to the Communists and Liberals, Hiss would be a free man today.

The Communist Daily Worker, for instance, in numerous articles, beginning in 1949, has charged that Hiss was convicted illegally—that he was framed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and an American court.

This same allegation was being echoed as late as July 31, 1952 by a Yale University Law Professor, Fred Rodell. Rodell sang the same song of grief over Communist Harry Bridges when the latter was convicted of lying about his affiliations. Rodell signed a petition which charged that Bridges was being "railroaded."

Yale University Law School is the home of Thomas L. Emerson, guiding light in the National Lawyers' Guild, described by the House Committee on Un-American activities as red-controlled. Rodell from his lofty perch at Yale, where his title is professor not propagandist, wrote an article printed in the "Progressive" magazine, a sort of wailing wall for crying Liberals. In it he made the astounding statement:

"I was convinced that, regardless of Hiss' innocence or guilt, his conviction was procured in large part by the use of highly suspect and very possibly manufactured evidence; I was convinced that there was something quite malodorous, to put it mildly, about certain FBI activities in connection with the case, and I was convinced that Hiss is entitled, if not to a new trial forthwith, at least to such help from the court as his attorneys need to round up further evidence—or of a sort that would make a new trial clearly mandatory."

Rodell charges the FBI with misconduct. He states no proof, no fact, not even a firm allegation to back up his serious utterance. He also prejudices the evidence submitted by Hiss' lawyers for a retrial, before the evidence has been submitted to the court.

A Federal Judge, of course, denied the retrial motion by labeling the evidence, which Rodell found so sound, as poppycock.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch is another publication which attempted editorially to wrap an aura of reliability around the so-called "new" Hiss evidence. The newspaper indicates that since Chester T. Lane is Hiss' lawyer the evidence must be authentic and substantial enough for a new trial.

Lane is Hiss' lawyer. In fact he graduated a class ahead of Hiss at the Harvard Law School and has the same circle of acquaintances Hiss had both in New York and Washington. No one doubts, as the St. Louis Post-Dispatch states, "That Lane is wholly respectable and a thoroughly competent member of the bar." But a lawyer's integrity is not evidence and many respectable members of the bar defend sex criminals and murder-

A Child Should Be Included At The Family Dinner Table

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

AFTER the baby is about two, or even younger, he can gain profitable experience from sitting in a high chair and having his meals with the family. He can see and hear all the other persons around the family board. Being in the family circle, he can feel that he belongs. And if the family has a brief religious ceremony, such as grace, he can gain in self-control and reverence.

Of course there arise some problems so weighty that a few parent counselors advise against the use of a high chair at all. Safety is one of these problems. The youngster who is unrestrained away from the table may stand up in the high chair and jump about so recklessly as to sustain falls. A good strong harness (which may be homemade) can usually take care of this problem.

If Youngster Tires

The little child may get very tired sitting so long in the high chair, especially if the meal is prolonged, as when there are guests. A proper footrest and backrest might help here; and in case of obvious fatigue, the youngster might be held or allowed to walk about for a few moments.

The very young child may want foods at the table not wholesome for him. But if at other times he has learned to accept NO as final, a quiet utterance of this monosyllable and, "That's only for big people," will suffice.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Resentful Groups

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.

In this campaign the practical politicians in both parties are more concerned about the Negro vote in the pivotal states of the North than they have been in years. Since 1936, when James A. Farley and ex-Senator Joseph Guffey conceived the plan of an unlimited use of Federal patronage and Federal funds to swing this vote away from the Republicans, which would bar the filibuster—the only effective weapon the South has to prevent this obnoxious Federal act from being forced upon it.

But there's something very precious to be gained by these children from eating at the family board, and this gain may even be increased when there are appreciative dinner guests, especially after the child is four or five. Among the future social accomplishments will be the fine art of being a gracious guest in a home where there are young children; and also of being a gracious host or hostess of these children as well as of the guests.

Further, such a change in his attitude would be so obviously without principle that it might do more harm than good. And even should he recant on civil rights in order to be at one with his running mate, he would have to do another about-face on the Taft-Hartley Act, the repeal of which the Republican platform strongly urges. Governor Stevenson, however, thinks Taft-Hartley would be all right if amended, and Senator Sparkman voted for it in its original form.

Phone Co. Will Replace Damaged Sidewalks

Bell Company was in the room. Mr. Worth was given the floor. He had come to Bristol to discuss an entirely different matter, the installation of a radio antenna on the water tank at Pond and Mulberry streets, to provide for the reception and relay of phone messages from ships in the Delaware River.

"I am sure the sidewalks will be replaced," Mr. Worth said. With reference to other complaints having to do with alleged improper safeguarding of open trenches, he said this would be taken up with the contractors who were in charge.

After hearing Mr. Worth's comment on the sidewalk issue, council voted unanimously to approve the antenna as requested. This will be part of the installations which will make possible ship-to-shore phone conversations with vessels in the Delaware river, anywhere from the bay to the city of Trenton.

In reply to a question by Councilman William W. Wallace, Mr. Worth assured council that no damage would result to the water tower or other borough property.

He also declared that there was no possible way in which the radio receiver could interfere with the reception of television programs.

Councilman Angelo Ciancioli, Jr., as borough auditor to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of James M. Neals.

Councilman Duffy asked if there is an ordinance on the statute books prohibiting anyone from letting dogs run at large. He was informed that there is.

He also stated that he had inquired at the June meeting if bicycles were required to have bells and lights for night use, and was informed that they are under the state highway code which requires such equipment.

A petition from residents of Chestnut street asked that the street be made a one-way street and that the dead-end be opened. Councilman Riley recited the hazards due to motorists being compelled to back out of the narrow street. The request was referred to the street and highway committee in conjunction with the police committee.

Nicholas M. Mannherz was appointed by Burgess I. J. Hetherington to be a member of the Tree Commission, to fill the vacancy due to the death of Dr. H. Doyle Webb. A letter was received expressing the appreciation of the Greater Lower Bucks Week Committee to the borough council for its co-operation in that celebration. Stephen Midouhas and Horace C. Schmidt, co-chairmen of the committee, presented councilmen and borough officials with souvenir plates commemorating the celebration.

All members of the council were present with the exception of Thomas J. Gossine, of the third ward. The invocation was by the Rev. Peter Pinci, pastor of St. Ann's Italian Catholic Church. Burgess Hetherington presented to council several of the children who were borough officials "for a day" as part of the Lower Bucks County Week observances.

Among them were: Miss Irene T. Kerwick, Burgess; and councilmen Nicholas Pascale, Jr., James McHugh, Peter Brescia and Philip Toratto.

Councilman Richard T. Myers stated that the health and sanitation committee was in receipt of a letter from the Superior Zinc Corporation advising that every effort was being made to control fumes.

President Byers informed Council he had been advised by Thomas Jaynes, vice-president of the Superior Zinc Corporation, and W. M. McClurin, Bristol plant manager of Rohm & Haas, of an offer to supply the apparatus, labor and insecticide for insect control for the balance of the season, without cost to the borough. The offer was accepted with the thanks of council.

Mr. Byers reported that the sewage from Levittown being emptied into the Delaware river at Edgely is being given primary treatment before being discharged, according to G. A. Ellis, district engineer of the state health department, and that it is being discharged with his permission for a limited time, expected to end about the beginning of next year.

Councilman Wallace, reporting on behalf of the water committee, announced that the new well in the Bath Road field is about ready for the installation of a pump and will produce about 250 gallons per minute. An agreement has been authorized for the reconditioning of the number three well at a cost of $650 dollars.

A new well has been recommended back of No. 5, which has played out. A test well driven in the tidal basin to a depth of 48 feet is considered capable of producing 350 gallons per minute. At one point the well encountered iron, but further down entered a new flow which is free of iron.

John S. Lynn, chairman of the police committee, stated that traffic lights now have been installed at Bath street and new Route 13. He replied to a question asked last month by Councilman Duffy concerning the source of moneys collected in parking meters with the following information: out of a sample week in which a total of $481.55 was collected, $150.75 came from Harriman, $222.60 from the new meters, $61 from rebuilt meters, and $57.20 from Market street.

He informed council that there are to be several changes in the police code of discipline. He also asked for council approval to have about 35 parking meters reconditioned at a cost of $29 each, to be paid out of meter income.

The statistical report of police for the month of July showed the following: Arrests — assault and battery by automobile, 1; assault and battery, 1; burglary, 2; disorderly conduct, 10; fugitive from justice, 2; illegal discharge of fireworks, 9; intoxicated, 1; larceny of automobile, 1; operating an automobile while intoxicated, 1; worthless check, 1. Disposition of cases — held for court, 5; fined, 13; committed to county prison, 2; turned over to other police, 2; continued, 1; charged withdrawn, 1; discharged, 5.

Lodgers sheltered, 130; street lights reported out, 82; doors unlocked, 7; alarms answered by patrol car, 247; patrol car driven, 3,861 miles; emergency messages delivered, 2; dogs disposed of, 2; ill persons aided, 1; escorts, 34.

Automobile cases: accidents investigated, 13; collision with fixed object, 1; pedestrians injured, 3; collision with other cars, 9; parking fines collected, $428; collection from parking meters, $1501.20 driving too fast for conditions, 11; reckless driving, 4; passing a sign, 11; speeding, 1; driving without license, 1; permitting a violation, 1; passing red light, 1; summoned for failure to report after being notified of parking violations, 18; fines paid to borough, $162, by Justice of the Peace Edward Lynn and Anthony Niccol.

Street committee chairman, William Pearson, stated that only one bid had been received for the street repair work. The bidder was Kauffman Brothers, Langhorne, for approximately $13,000. Awarding of the contract was approved by Councilman Riley.

A request was received from Salvatore Manzo to buy part of Chester avenue near Route 13. Mr. Byers said that it was felt that it would be a detriment to bar access of the street onto Route 13 by selling part of it.

Borough Solicitor Fullam told Chairman Myers of the health and sanitation committee that bids could be advertised to have a number of houses in question connected with the borough sewer system.

STEAM AND BRUSHING GOOD FOR SUEDE

(By INS) Probably every women has a suede handbag or a pair of suede shoes that still have plenty of wear left, but look shabby and scuffed. You may also have a velvet dress or accessories in the same condition.

The Presto steam-iron company says a combination of steam vapor and brushing will rejuvenate suede and velvet items.

First you brush the things that are going to be worked on. Next direct the steam from your steam iron carefully at the suede or velvet item, being careful to hold the iron about an inch away from the fabric.

The steam will raise the nap of suede or velvet. Just before the items are completely dry, brush them again, with the nap—and not against it.

Delay in Sewer Project Irks Borough Council

the fact that there was considerable lack of understanding by councilmen of the terms of the contract entered into by Borough Council with the two industries on December 12, 1949.

According to Mr. Byers, the consultants who conferred with the borough officials estimated that the cost of treating the effluent from the two plants would add about $100,000 to the cost of the sewer project.

The question which must be decided by council, Mr. Byers said, was whether to go ahead with the sewer project on its present minimum terms, which appear to be on the basis of 22,000 population. He said that while it was true that the bonds are costing the borough $20,000 a year, and this may seem to be a waste while the money is not being used, nevertheless if the project were to be delayed a year or so, and a saving of $150,000 to result thereby, then the money spent in carrying charges would seem like a trivial amount.

Mr. Byers said that he "couldn't see" the borough spending $100,000 to take care of sewage from industrial plants. He raised the question of whether steel for the construction of the new parts of the plant will be available in the near future.

Councilman Duffy quoted Engineer Boardman as having given an estimate of $360,000 to $380,000 for a plant with an 18,000 population capacity, based on 1951 prices, which he said Boardman had inferred would include the secondary treatment for the plants in question.

Councilman Aita confirmed Mr. Duffy's recollection of the conversation with Mr. Broadman.

A demand for information as to the nature of the agreement between the borough and the two plants was made by Councilman Riley. He asked whether it was in the form of an ordinance, or in contracts, and asked that the borough engineer, Livingston Joyce, furnish copies of any contracts which were on file.

Mr. Joyce produced the contracts, and after a quick reading by Borough Solicitor, John Fullam, the attorney said that he would wish further time before committing himself definitely, but that he had the impression that there were several angles by which it might be established that the contracts were not binding on the borough.

Councilman Capriotti defended Mr. Broadman's estimates on the basis that the first figures of up-wards of $400,000 were based on a population of only 18,000, and the $600,000 was the result of increasing the population yardstick to 26,000.

The question was asked by Councilman Wallace whether the borough was not compelled to accept the waste of industrial plants such as the two in question. Mr. Byers answered "no," and said that the arrangement had been undertaken voluntarily by Council.

This was done prior to the 1951 election which substantially changed the personnel of borough council. Several officials and committee chairmen who were in charge of reassessment before county authorities, before the September 1st deadline.

the fact that there was considerable lack of understanding by councilmen of the terms of the contract entered into by Borough Council with the two industries on December 12, 1949.

According to Mr. Byers, the consultants who conferred with the borough officials estimated that the cost of treating the effluent from the two plants would add about $100,000 to the cost of the sewer project.

The question which must be decided by council, Mr. Byers said, was whether to go ahead with the sewer project on its present minimum terms, which appear to be on the basis of a 22,000 population. He said that while it was true that the bonds are costing the borough $20,000 a year, and this may seem to be a waste while the money is not being used, nevertheless if the project were to be delayed a year or so, and a saving of $150,000 to result thereby, then the money spent in carrying charges would seem like a trivial amount.

Mr. Byers said that he "couldn't see" the borough spending $100,000 to take care of sewage from industrial plants. He raised the question of whether steel for the construction of the new parts of the plant will be available in the near future.

Councilman Duffy quoted Engineer Boardman as having given an estimate of $360,000 to $380,000 for a plant with an 18,000 population capacity, based on 1951 prices, which he said Boardman had inferred would include the secondary treatment for the plants in question.

Councilman Aita confirmed Mr. Duffy's recollection of the conversation with Mr. Boardman.

A demand for information as to the nature of the agreement between the borough and the two plants was made by Councilman Riley. He asked whether it was in the form of an ordinance, or in contracts, and asked that the borough engineer, Livingston Joyce, furnish copies of any contracts which were on file.

Mr. Joyce produced the contracts, and after a quick reading by Borough Solicitor, John Fullam, the attorney said that he would wish further time before committing himself definitely, but that he had the impression that there were several angles by which it might be established that the contracts were not binding on the borough.

Councilman Capriotti defended

Mr. Broadman's estimates on the basis that the first figures of up-wards of $400,000 were based on a population of only 18,000, and the $600,000 was the result of increasing the population yardstick to 26,000.

The question was asked by Councilman Wallace whether the borough was not compelled to accept the waste of industrial plants such as the two in question. Mr. Byers answered "no," and said that the arrangement had been undertaken voluntarily by Council.

This was done prior to the 1951 election which substantially changed the personnel of borough council.

Several officials and committee chairmen who were in charge of the arrangements at that time are no longer members.

Council instructed Richard T. Myers, chairman of the health and sanitation committee, to press Mr. Broadman for the revised plan.

A special meeting of council will be held to consider the matter further when Mr. Fullam has completed digesting the contracts and is in a position to explain the borough's rights and obligations under them. A motion to that effect, introduced by Councilman Francis J. Kryven was adopted unanimously.

We rejoice, O Lord, in the fact that Thou art to be found by those who sincerely seek Thee. There is no secretary in the outer office asking our names and our businesses. The door stands ajar, the veil has been rent asunder, and the kingdom of heaven opened to all believers. There is direct approach to Thee through Christ. Just as surely as the sun of our world with its light, and life-giving rays, shines unfettered upon all, so the Sun of Righteousness shines with healing in His wings.

May life in abundance be Thy gift to us, in Jesus' Name, Amen.

NEWS OF THE LEVITTOWN COMMUNITY

LIFE AT LEVITTOWN BECOMING NORMAL

"Older" Residents Now Becoming Accustomed to New Surroundings

NOW LANDSCAPING

By Staff Reporter

LEVITTOWN, Aug. 12 — A tour through the Stonybrook section reveals quite a bit of activity along various lines is now going on or has been completed and also shows that in the cases of some of the "older" residents, life is more nearly approaching normality.

Landscape was begun, and a good bit of it is already finished in sections already occupied. Residents were quite fascinated at watching the procedure of mass planting of shrubs and trees. Seeding of lawns will start later this month.

Now that so many homes have been completed, the entire Stonybrook area presents a colorful appearance, with grey, yellow, rose and green houses. Landscaping will add another beauty touch.

Residents of 99 Stonybrook Drive are Bernard Kogel, his wife, Joann Ellen, and two daughters, Joann, seven, and Bernadette, three. The Kogels had previously lived on Park avenue, Eddington. Kogel is a chemical operator at Riegelton & Haas.

One family has apparently been noticing the heat, even in this "country" development, where so much open space permits breezes to come from all directions, because this family has a room air-conditioner in one of the bedroom windows.

Dogs are beginning to appear in great numbers. Many of them are obviously pets of the new residents, but too many of them seem to be strays that are attracted to such a built-up area.

The Monday wash can be seen out in various spots—sometimes in the breezeway, sometimes in the carport, sometimes in the backyard. Any day, though, is wash-day here because the automatic washers that come with the houses make it easier to wash at any time.

Many children can be seen on bicycles, riding throughout the streets and lanes with friends. They add one of those "homely" touches that make this a typical American family development.

LEVITTOWN, Aug. 12 — When two people enjoy the same hobby they have many happy times together. The recreational interest of Mr. and Mrs. James Cahill, of 50 Stonybrook drive, is fishing.

Mrs. Cahill still thrills when she tells of landing that flounder which weighed nearly five pounds. The favorite fishing spot of the couple during past years was Barnegat Light, N. J., and some of the fishing has been done from canoes offshore, and at other times they fished from shore.

The Cahills came here from Trenton, N. J., and after occupying apartments, some of them on the second floor, Mrs. Cahill says "it seems like heaven here, to have our own home, and to be on the ground floor, in spite of dust and mud."

The Cahills have a son, Bruce, 8½ months old.

Mr. Cahill is a foreman in the tool and dye department of Kaiser Metal Products Co., Bristol.

The two are looking forward to many years of happiness in this, the first complete house of their own.

AUTO BOYS TEAM MOVES A STEP CLOSER TO 5TH

The Auto Boys team moved a step closer to clinching fifth position in the Bristol Softball League last evening as it topped Kaiser Metal, 6-3, on Memorial field. The loss halted a six-game winning streak of the Kaisermen.

Nick Loma's fast ball proved too much for the losers as he held them to seven scattered blows. Nick was given fine support from his mates as three double-plays pulled him out of several tight spots. Of the seven Kaiser hits, two each went to Frank Rich, Jim and Sam Sottille.

"Chick" Stansky was the losing hurler. He too allowed seven blows but Stansky was liberal with his passes, giving up seven. The Auto Boys contingent took advantage of these gifts and loose playing to push over their marksmen.

Harold Peltz made two of the winner's safe hits.

blase-ites, it would have sounded like Schmaltz. But it was such fiery Schmaltz it couldn't miss sounding earnest. Argentina laborers, listening to Eva Duarte at 7 p. m. night over a soothing bottle of beer wondered, grew restless, became inspired and, at all times, they believed.

It was some time after she started this show that Colonel Peron heard about Eva and he, like the laborers, was impressed and inspired and somehow strangely humble before such hysterical enthusiasm for his own deeds.

And, of course, he also believed.

Some stories say the Colonel, in love with the very sound of her voice (and what it was saying), asked to be introduced to Eva and met her at her studio in Belgrano.

Others insist that she schemed to meet him, appearing at a welfare rally and during a moment of rousing cheers, leaped to his side with a microphone and cried into it:

"We need him. We must support him. Listen to my program. Every day I will tell you what he does, how he works to make your life better . . ."

At this point, in the story, Peron reached down and took her microphone. He looked at her long, then asked gently, "who are you?"

However they met, dramatically or in the line of Eva's work or Peron's pleas for welfare funds, they fell in love.

Whether there was a great amount of physical attraction between them no one knows, but many observers have remarked that Eva was a virtually sexless woman despite her slim hips, her shiny gold hair and the scarlet-lipped, white-cheeked, brown-eyed perfection of her face.

But physical love in their relationship was not a necessity for Eva and Juan because they had their ambitions and their unrestrained mutual admiration and that intangible which their followers would call "the ideal."

It has been as well established as a rumor can be established that Juan and Eva began to live together in quiet but not artfully concealed domesticity in the year 1945.

Eva kept her job, but received a large raise. Juan kept up his military and welfare affairs and with her help became more and more the hero, nearer and nearer the status of president and dictator. Once, in '45, the two paid a visit to Eva's home town where the citizens were delighted, impressed, shocked and outraged by their affectionate man-and-wife devotion in public.

There are dozens of unconfirmed stories on how she met Juan Peron, than a colonel in the army and a handsome recently-widowed six footer as well. But the most commonly accepted theory is that she met him after her station manager warned her to improve the radio show, or be out of a job.

That ultimatum, the story goes, caused her to look for an entirely new, bold program idea. Up till then she had raced through a variety-show type broadcast, in which she half sang in a less than mediocre voice, played records, commented on the news of the day and acted in far from outstanding dramas.

At the suggestion of advisers, she finally decided to capitalize on her first love—drama—by re-enacting the exploits of the public hero of the day, Colonel Peron.

Although he was still in the army, Peron was also at that time Minister of War and Secretary of Public Welfare and a hero because he was making dramatic moves in the field of Social Welfare.

Eva put all her soap opera drama training into her accounts of Peron's mighty beneficence. She romanticized his every move, wortshipfully called him "a new genius who will become a father to our poor," ranted against the "oligarchs" from whom Peron would rescue the poor.

the lower Bucks section, were told of.

There being insufficient members present to constitute a quorum, no official business was conducted. However, committee reports were made and general discussions took place. A report on the proposed township directory was made by Mrs. Elizabeth Gough. John O'Grady reported that "the school board is conducting a complete township census, which is expected to be completed by Sept. 1st." Mrs. Gough gave a brief summary on the progress of installing street signs and house numbers in those sections of the township where improved mail service is proposed. The names of two members, Dean Weidner and Mrs. Ann Leighton, were submitted. Regarding the desired traffic light at the intersection of New Route 13 and Edgely avenue, petitions containing 146 names were presented as well as written sponsorships by numerous local manufacturers, to be turned over to the township commissioners to bolster that body's efforts in behalf of this project. Information has been received from the county registration commission that no boundary changes are contemplated at this time between Bristol township and Tullytown borough; therefore no voters will be affected.

A. C. Smith stated that bids for the George Taylor school, Croydon, and the John Fitch school, Levittown, will be opened at a meeting of the township school board and Authority to be held in the Delhaas school at eight p. m., August 14th. Announcement was also made of the monthly meeting of the township commissioners in Edgely Fire Co. station, August 13th, eight o'clock; also of a special commissioners' public meeting on August 19th at the same place to consider the proposed township zoning ordinance.

Joseph Bogage suggested that a resume of all association meetings be mailed to all members.

Schaefer rings the bell-
with the full-flavored brew that is light and dry, too!

Today's Schaefer combines everything you have ever wanted in a beer. It is light, but full-flavored. It is dry, but not at the expense of character. It has satisfying body, yet is not heavy. And it develops a rich, full head—the crowning glory of a great beer. This Schaefer is the heritage of 110 years of skillful brewing. We believe it is the finest beer America has yet produced.

Led by Evita, the laborers rose up in murder-minded mobs, gathered in front of government house and demanded "our leader, Peron." They hurled stones. They struck against the major industries. There were organized Peronista demonstrations throughout the country.

When Peron was freed and returned to his Evita, even some strong men wept. His love for Evita, in short, did much to prod the power of the future president.

AUTO BOYS TEAM MOVES A STEP CLOSER TO 5TH

The Auto Boys team moved a step closer to clinching fifth position in the Bristol Softball League last evening as it topped Kaiser Metal, 6-3, on Memorial field. The loss halted a six-game winning streak of the Kaisermen.

Nick Loma's fast ball proved too much for the losers as he held them to seven scattered blows. Nick was given fine support from his mates in three double-plays pulled him out of several tight spots. Of the seven Kaiser hits, two each went to Frank Rich, Jim and Sam Sottili.

"Chick" Stansky was the losing hurler. He too allowed seven blows but Stansky was liberal with his passes, giving up seven. The Auto Boys contingent took advantage of these gifts and loose playing to push over their markers.

Harold Peitz made two of the winner's safe hits.

MUTH WINS HIS 14TH VICTORY OF THE SEASON

PENNDEL, Aug. 12 — Dave Muth won his fourteenth mound victory of the season last evening as the Penndel Aces clinched the regular season championship of the Tri-County League on Penndel Memorial field. Muth blanked Fallsington to register a 3-0 triumph.

Muth held the losers to five hits, fanned eight, and walked one in chalking up the win.

Gordon Sheppard was the losing twirler. He pitched well but received ragged support. Penndel scored twice in the first without the aid of a basehit with Bray and Paone committing errors. An overthrow by Hartley gave the Aces their final run.

Penndel has now won 23 and lost 3 games in the standing.
